

Here are a few last minutes details in preparation for the dried insect digitization workshop in Chicago next week.

1. The opening reception/dinner will begin at 6:30 p.m., April 23 in Mei's Kitchen, in the Best Western.
2. We will walk to the museum as a group Wednesday morning, leaving at 7:50 a.m. sharp. Please arrive in the hotel lobby a couple of minutes early. It is important to go together to ensure we all arrive at the correct door at the same time and get checked in properly.
3. For those arriving early or staying after, don't forget the pre- and post-workshop tour opportunities outlined in the 1st e-mail I sent: https://www.idigbio.org/wiki/images/e/e6/Workshop_Participants_1.pdf. You must sign up in advance for these, or for the opportunity to work in the collection. Sign up on the workshop participant list at <http://tinyurl.com/pinnedfolks>. E-mail Margaret with questions: <mailto:mthayer@fieldmuseum.org>.
4. We are continuing to tweak the agenda. New versions are uploaded to the wiki periodically.

Don't hesitate to e-mail me if you have any problems, questions, or concerns. Please note that all informational e-mails, like this one, are posted on the wiki at https://www.idigbio.org/wiki/index.php/Dried_Insect_Digitization_Workshop.

And, don't forget, my cell number is 850-766-2649 (others are listed on the logistics doc on the wiki). Call anytime, especially if you encounter difficulties on your arrival in Chicago.

Safe travels and see you next week!

Best,

Gil (on behalf of Margaret, Petra, and Joanna)

Gil Nelson, PhD
Assistant Professor/Research
iDigBio Steering Committee
Integrated Digitized Biocollections
Institute for Digital Information and Scientific Communication
College of Communication and Information
Courtesy Professor
Department of Biological Sciences
Robert K. Godfrey Herbarium
Florida State University
gnelson@bio.fsu.edu